

The Kenilworth Castle Story

Kenilworth Castle is a very big, old building where people lived a long time ago.

When I arrive at Kenilworth Castle

Outside, I might see:

The car park

A sign for Kenilworth Castle

The big visitor centre, made of wood

The castle buildings
in the distance

At Kenilworth Castle

I might also see:

People who work at the castle. They wear a special uniform which looks like this:

If I need help during my visit then I, or whoever is with me, can ask them.

When I visit Kenilworth Castle

I might:

Explore the buildings

Walk around or sit in the gardens

Learn more about the castle

Have something to eat or drink

When I visit Kenilworth Castle

Inside the castle grounds, I might see:

The castle buildings

Gardens with trees and flowers

Signs which tell me about the castle

Old objects in the gatehouse

Some of the castle walls are broken because it is very old

Some parts of the castle are high up because it is very tall

When I arrive at Kenilworth Castle

I might hear:

The birds tweeting
in the castle
and gardens

The water splashing
in the fountain

Aeroplanes flying overhead

Music playing in the café

At Kenilworth Castle

If it gets too noisy for me:

There are quieter places I can go to in the gardens

There are ear defenders I can borrow

When I visit Kenilworth Castle

I might touch or feel:

The rough stone of the castle walls

Grass or gravel
underneath my feet

Wooden steps and
handrails

Leaves on the trees
and plants

When I visit Kenilworth Castle

I might taste:

Drinks and food which we can buy in the tearoom

My picnic, if we have brought one with us

When I visit Kenilworth Castle

I might smell:

The food in the tearoom

The flowers in the garden

Most of all Kenilworth Castle is a place where I can enjoy spending time with my family or whoever is with me.
